```
In [1]:  class ImportantValue:
             def __init__(self, amount):
                 self.amount = amount

             def __get__(self, obj, obj_type):
                 return self.amount

             def __set__(self, obj, value):
                 with open('log.txt', 'w') as f:
                     f.write(str(value))

                 self.amount = value

         class Account:
             amount = ImportantValue(100)

         bobs_account = Account()
         bobs_account.amount = 200

         with open('log.txt', 'r') as f:
             print(f.read())

         200
```